RAC News:

There isn't a lot of news this month. Maybe Amateurs are all hiding in warmer places?

The Report on Restructuring of Amateur Radio in Canada was officially accepted by the Board of Directors at last night's conference call and has now been released to Canada's Amateur Radio community.

You will be able to download a .PDF file of the complete report from the RAC WEBSITE. This site will also contain a downloadable PowerPoint presentation which summarizes the report and is suitable for presentation to your club. Look for a link on RAC's HomePage, at <http://www.rac.ca>. Hopefully, they will be available by the end of this week. Are you running a class for prospective Amateurs this winter? Hopefully, you are using the latest update of the Study Guide which was recently released.

RAC is still looking for a qualified Vice President for Public Relations. Do you have experience, expertise and interest in public relations work? Would you be willing to lend your expertise to RAC undertakings? If so, contact me for more information.

Do you want an early start on the HamFest season? The Fargo, ND, Hamfest is planned for April 21. It runs from 8:00 am to 3:00 pm. For more info, look to <http://www.rrra.org>

DX to Watch For:

Not a lot of DX, but there is some. Note that Scarborough Reef is upcoming - this is currently Hamdom's most wanted country. Good luck!
